MR. JOHN T. SHORT

Dies at His Home on Lee Street Tuesday Morning at 10:30 O'clock Following an Illness of About One Year.

Mr. John Short died at his home on Lee street yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock of a complication of diseases. Mr. Short was taken ill about a year ago and since that time has failed rapidly. For the past several weeks he was confined to his home and the end was expected momentarily since that time.

John T. Short was born in Maysville in 1854, being 63 years of age at the time of his death. He spent his entire life in this city and was always one of the city's leading citizens. He was a blacksmith and wagonmaker by trade. For a number of years he was partner in the firm of Short & Donovan. About 20 years ago Mr. Donovan sold his interest to Mr. J. J. Kaia. Since that time and until last fall he was with Mr. Kaia in the business at the corner of Limestone and Second streets. His failing health caused him to sell his interest in the business to Mr. Duke White.

Mr. Short was for a number of years a member of the city council, serving three terms. This was the only public office he ever held.

He was twice married. His first wife, who was Miss Ellen Collins, died about 28 years ago. By this marriage there were two children, both of whom survive, Mrs. Louis Behan and Mr. Will Short of this city. His second marriage was to Miss Annie Powers, who died about five years ago. One child, Miss Dorothy Short, survives this marriage.

Mr. Short also leaves one brother and two sisters, Mrs. M. J. Sweeney and Miss Mary Short of Cincinnati.

Mr. Short was a faithful and consistent member of the St. Patrick's Church of this city. He was a member of the Elks Lodge of this city.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning from St. Patrick's Church. Burial will be made in the Washington Catholic Cemetery.

There will be a dance Friday evening, January 26, at Neptune Hall. A Saxophone Trio will furnish the music. No invitations have been issued. All are cordially invited. 24-3t

Mr. C. L. Brammer of Lewisburg was a business visitor in this city yesterday and while here paid the Ledger office a very pleasant call.

Mr. George Heiser of Cincinnati is spending a few days with his aunts, the Misses Heiser of West Second street.

HALF A MILLION

Pounds of Tobacco Were Disposed of on the Local Market Yesterday at an Average of $17.62.

The sales yesterday on the local market total half a million pounds at an average of $17.62 per hundred. This is one of the top averages for the year on a similar amount of tobacco. The prices on the weed ranged from $9 to $36, the latter price being given at the Home.

The receipts at the various houses yesterday were exceedingly heavy, hundreds of the growers delivering their crops. There is every indication that the houses will have a great deal more tobacco today than can be sold. Every road leading into the city has almost a countless number of canvas covered wagons and all are pointing to the second largest looseleaf market in the world. The sales for the week will doubtless go well over the two million mark.

The Lexington Herald Says That Maysville is a Poor Baseball Town—Blue Grass League Dope.

The Hot Stove League in various towns of the Blue Grass is trying to revive the old Blue Grass League and the chances are that some of the many rumors concerning that famous organization may be true. Certainly neither the Blue Grass or Ohio State League will be formed or probably an Ohio-Kentucky League, but that will come out later.

In the Lexington Herald of Sunday the following is part of an article regarding the baseball situation:

"Lexington, Paris, Georgetown, Winchester, Richmond, Cythiana, Frankfort and Mt. Sterling are all mentioned for berths in the new league. Some talk of including Maysville in the organization has also been heard, but it is thought that including the river town, never a success in any league, would also result in largely increased railroad fares for the Blue Grass towns. Enough fans anxious for a revival of the league should be found without any great amount of trouble in any of the above towns to make the new venture a go. Transportation from town to town could be by means of motor busses, and this would mean not only economy by also that every player could spend the night in his own home town after playing away from home in the afternoon."

Last season Maysville was the only team besides Portsmouth that was willing to finish the season in the Ohio State League. Lexington was the cause of the final split-up of the League and then to say that Maysville is a poor baseball town. The local team came out in the hole last year but not as much as Lexington or Frankfort. The statement that Maysville was never a success in any league is untrue.

A SPEAKERSHIP DEADLOCK

Since the November election both the Republicans and the Democrats have been claiming control of the lower house of the Sixty-fifth congress. A number of contests were so close that it has taken weeks and even months to determine the victors and in one district in Pennsylvania the result is not yet decided. One thing is certain, however, and that is that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats will have a majority and if either party succeeds in electing a speaker it will be with the assistance of the few Independents, Progressives and Socialists, who have been elected to the house.

President conditions point to a deadlock on the speakership but the new congress does not meet in regular session until next December and unless a special session is called there will be a long period in which one or the other of the great parties may secure the necessary 218 votes for the first ballot.

Champ Clark and James R. Mann are the leading candidates for the honor at the present time and it is practically assured that if the Democrats are successful the present speaker will succeed himself. While Congressman Mann is the logical candidate of the Republicans there is some opposition to him within his own party and if the Republicans are to present a solid front and attract enough independent votes to make a majority they may have to support another candidate. There is also a feeling among some Republicans that it would be advantageous politically for their party to permit the re-election of Speaker Clark.

The prospect of a deadlock in the lower house of the Sixty-fifth congress calls to mind some famous deadlocks of the past. In the Thirty-first congress, which assembled in 1849, there were 112 Democrats, 105 Whigs and 13 Free Soilers. The Free Soilers held the balance of power as the Independents will this year. Robert C. Winthrop was the speaker of the preceding congress as is Speaker Clark now. Eight of the Free Soilers refused to support Winthrop because he had ignored the anti-slavery sentiment in the appointment of committees. Finally, Howell Cobb, a Georgia Democrat, was elected on the sixty-third ballot after scenes of wild disorder that threatened bloodshed.

In 1855 there was almost a complete obliteration of party lines. The Whigs had practically disappeared and the Democrats were factionally divided. The house was deadlocked for two months on the speakership. The contest ended with the 133d ballot when Nathaniel P. Banks was elected.

The Thirty-sixth congress, which met in 1859, was composed of 109 Republicans, 88 Administration Democrats, 23 Southern Americans and four Northern Americans. No party had a majority. G. A. Grow and John Sherman were the leading Republican candidates but Grow withdrew after the ballot and the Republicans rallied behind Sherman. So bitter a fight was made against Sherman that the Republicans finally brought forward William Pennington, a new member with no record to make him enemies. Pennington was elected on the forty-fourth ballot.

The contest over the speakership in the Sixty-fifth congress may not be as exciting as these three contests during the twelve years that preceded the civil war but it promises more excitement than any similar struggle within the memory of the present generation.

AN EXTRA SESSION

The President shrinks from calling an extra session of Congress. It would interfere with his golf and it would deprive him of the monopoly of the spot-light. Congress, too, is loath to be put on the job in March.

Yet an extra session is unavoidable unless the present Congress shows more speed and more determination to face the responsibilities which the election have continued in the hands of the Democratic party.

None of the programme which Mr. Wilson outlined at the beginning of the session is anywhere near passage, though the session is more than a third gone; and no effective steps have been taken to remedy the most crying of all the ills which the administration confronts—namely, the growing deficit in the Treasury.

This condition is exclusively of Democratic creation. There was a comfortable surplus in the Treasury when Mr. Wilson and his party assumed control. There were revenue laws on the statute books which were turning a sufficient volume of funds into the till to meet all reasonable needs of the government; and the application of these laws brought no appreciable hardship to any citizen. Today expenditures are—as they have been for some time—running way ahead of receipts and the forms of taxation now in use are oppressive and inquisitorial to a degree hitherto unknown. The Democratic Congress accomplished all this—and it is small wonder that they would like to postpone the day when they must face the consequence.

BUYING MORE FROM FRANCE

France to the front on sales to us. During the first 11 months of 1916 the fleur de lis stamp was on $98,400,000 worth of our imports, an increase of $30,000,000 over the similar period 1915, and somewhat greater than our imports from the country for the first 11 months of 1914, during seven months of which period the Wilson-Underwood law had free swing. Not only has France had some fighting abroad but some trade with us. True, our sales to France increased $350,000,000 during the 1916 period, compared with 1915—from $452,000,000 to $802,000,000—but those sales consisted mainly of war munitions, and they were nearly $667,000,000 above normal. We cannot depend upon any such export trade with France after the war, while she can and will increase her sales to us tremendously if we continue to operate under a tariff-for-less-revenue policy, as at present. How is the proposed Democratic duty on coffee, tea, and rubber, to meet the post-war situation?

THEY'LL FIND IT TRUE

When, in the course of human events, a couple of years from date, the divers and sundry "probers" get through and make their reports, it will be found that the public claim was not a delusion—prices were excessive.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

"SEPTEMBER MORN"

Coming to Washington Theater Next Tuesday After Successful Run in Chicago.

The big musical comedy "September Morn" offers a cute, lively story that fairly convulses the audience as every bit of crisp, witty dialogue and laughable situation is presented—and one finds his or herself humming or whistling the jingly tunes after the catchy music is rooted off by the harmonious voices of the augmented chorus and feature songs of the principals. The story goes with a burrah as Rudolph Plastric, a would-be artist, who claims to have painted the celebrated Chahas picture called "September Morn" (but in reality cannot paint the side of a barn and do it well) continues to get himself in tight places. William Moore, the comedian of real, entertaining methods, has the role of Rudolph, and his antics go with a scream. An actress claims to be the original model of the popular picture and she instructs her publicity promoter to host her as the real "September Morn" who was not afraid to bathe in the open. The dodging of Rudolph and the actress, both known as they are imposters, creates no end of jovial line and situation. A bluff army officer also gets mixed up in the affairs of the lady thespian, in fact, falls in love with her only to find that he is his wife's dearest friend—this and the innumerable other complications keep those in front of the footlights convulsed with genuine laughter and at intervals the big musical numbers are introduced by a bevy of dancing experts who are seen in the latest modern dances and famous Heatsation Waltzes, which are decidedly popular at this period. The company, numbers nearly fifty and is composed of many well-known musical comedy artists who come to Washington Theater, Tuesday night, January 30th, with the organization from a long and successful run at the LaSalle Opera House, Chicago.

Sets are on sale at Crane & Shafer's Palm Store.

HANS WAGNER ILL

Pittsburg, January 22—Hans Wagner, Pirate shortstop, is sick for the first time in his life. Three weeks ago the great ball player married Miss Bessie Blaine Smith, and they departed for the South on their honeymoon, but the sudden illness of the bride's mother brought them back from Danville. A few days ago Wagner left his sister's home in Carnegie, where he and his wife are living at present, and went automobile without his sweater—something unusual for him to do—and a heavy dose of the grip is the result. He said today he would be out soon. He has plans ready for a new home that is to be built while he is away with the Pirates at the training grounds, and Mrs. Wagner will remain at home superintending the erection of a beautiful residence at Carnegie, where the great shortstop expects to spend his future days.

FULTZ EXPELLED ANOTHER PLAYER

New York, January 22—Oscar Stanage, catcher of the Detroit American League club, has been expelled from the Base Ball Player's fraternity, according to the announcement of President David L. Fultz, of that organization. Stanage's expulsion from the fraternity was due to his signing a contract with the Detroit club for the season of 1917 in violation of his agreement with the other members of the fraternity to withhold his signature until he received word to sign. Stanage is the second member to be expelled within a few days. Saltee, of the New York Nationals, being the first to be dropped by the Players' fraternity.

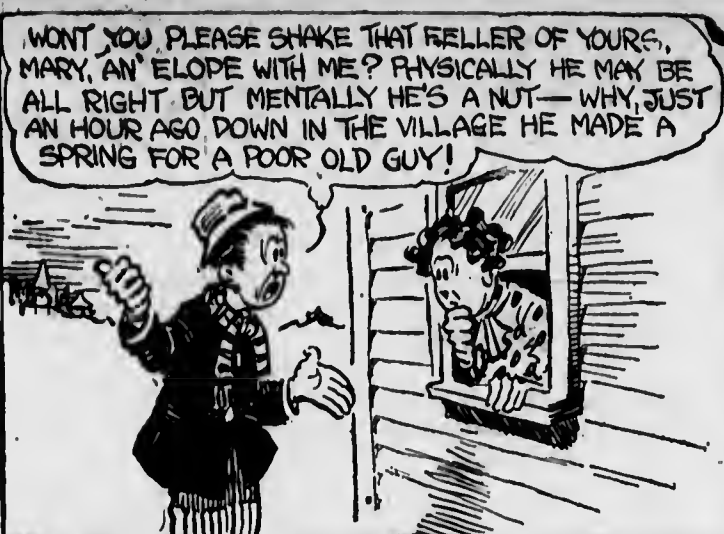

POTATOES SENT FROM ENGLAND

Chicago, January 22—High prices paid for potatoes on the Chicago market have attracted shipments from England to compete with the American-grown product, according to a statement today by Sol. Westerfeld, former president of the National Retail Grocers' association. "It seems almost impossible that England at this time can send potatoes to Chicago to compete with the product grown in Illinois, Wisconsin and other Western States, but I have seen the bills of lading," he said. Potatoes on the Chicago market are selling at $2.25 a bushel.

MRS. KIESO SICK SEVEN MONTHS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with severe pains in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I was entirely unfit to do my housework, I was giving up hope of ever being well, when my sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for themselves how good it is."—Mrs. CARL A. KIESO, 556 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

The great number of unqualified testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory, many of which are from time to time published by permission, are proof of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, in the treatment of female ills.

PRESIDENT WILSON

Believes Speech Before U. S. Senate in Which He Outlines a New Peace Plan—Proposes That All Nations Should Adopt Monroe Doctrine at End of War.

Washington, January 22.—Whether the United States shall enter a world peace league, and, as many contend, thereby abandon its traditional policy of insulation and no entangling alliances, was laid squarely before Congress and the country today by President Wilson in a personal address to the Senate.

For the first time in more than 100 years a President of the United States appeared in the Senate chamber to discuss the nation's foreign relations after the manner of Washington, Adams and Madison. The effect was to leave Congress, all official quarters and the foreign diplomats amazed and bewildered. Immediately there arose a sharp division of opinion over the property as well as the substance of the President's proposal.

"Startling," "staggering," "astounding," the "noblest utterance that has fallen from human lips since the Declaration of Independence," were among the expressions of Senators. The President himself, after his address, said:

"I have said what everybody has been longing for, but has thought impossible. Now it appears to be possible."

Chief Points of Address
The chief points of the President's address were:

"That a lasting peace in Europe cannot be made a peace of victory for either side.

"That peace must be followed by a definite concert of power to assure the world that no catastrophe of war shall overwhelm it again.

"That in such a concert of power

the United States cannot withhold its participation to guarantee peace and justice throughout the world;

"And that before a peace is made the United States government should frankly formulate the conditions upon which it would feel justified in asking the American people for their formal and solemn adherence.

"It is clear to every man who thinks," the President told the Senate, "that there is in this promise no breach in either our tradition or our policy as a nation, but a fulfillment rather, of all that we have professed or striven for.

International Monroe Doctrine

"I am proposing, as it were, that the nations should with one accord adopt the doctrine of President Monroe as the doctrine of the world, that no nation should seek to extend its policy over any other nation or people, but that every people should be left free, to determine its own policy, its own way of development, unhindered, unthreatened, untried, the little along with the great and powerful.

"I am proposing that all nations henceforth avoid entangling alliances which would draw them into competition of power, catch them in a net of intrigue and selfish rivalry and disturb their own affairs with influence intruded from without. There is no entangling alliance in a concert of power. When all unite to act in the same sense and with the same power, all act in the common interest and are free to live their own lives under a common protection.

"I am proposing government by the consent of the governed; that freedom of the seas, which in international conference after conference, representatives of the United States have argued with the eloquence of those who are the convinced disciples of liberty and that moderation of armaments which makes of armies and navies a power for orders merely, not an instrument of aggression or selfish violence.

American Principles

"These are American principles, American policies. We could stand for no other. And they are also the principles and policies of forward-looking men and women everywhere, of every modern nation, of every enlightened community. They are the principles of mankind and must prevail."

While the President was speaking, copies of his address had been forwarded to American diplomats in all the belligerent countries for the information of the foreign offices and were being prepared for representatives of neutral governments here.

Back of the fundamental proposals for some sort of international sanction for preservation of the future peace of the world, now already accepted in principle by both sets of the belligerents in their replies to President Wilson's peace note, like the responsibility which the President today openly expressed, that thereby he laid the ground work upon which an approach may be made to an end of the present conflict.

In public utterances the President has hitherto expressed the conviction that the present was the last great war in which the United States could be a neutral; that it no longer could remain in the position of being half in and half out of world affairs. In his speech accepting his second nomination and in other public addresses, he touched upon the same sentiment which found its whole development in his address today.

"The American people," the President told the Senate, "cannot in honor withhold the service to which they are about to be challenged. They owe it to themselves," he said, "and to the other nations of the world, to state the conditions under which they will feel free to render it. I am here to attempt to state those conditions."

PERSHING FORCE ON MOVE OUT OF MEXICO

Juarez, Mex., January 22.—A Mexican courier arrived here tonight from Casas Grandes with an official message saying that 161 motor trucks of the American expedition force left Colonia Dublan yesterday for Columbus, loaded to the top with camp equipment, supplies, ordinance, stores and excess baggage.

Troops of the expedition were marching from El Valle to Colonia Dublan today, according to a message received from Casas Grandes. They will go into camp at Colonia Dublan for a rest before proceeding toward the border, the message added.

This message also said a force of American troops started north from Colonia Dublan today to establish a temporary field base for the expedition.

The General movement of American troops toward Columbus, N. M., is expected to be under way within the next twenty-four hours, it was said.

Results That Last Are What Appeal to Maysville People.

Kidney sufferers in Maysville want more than temporary relief. They want results that last—Results like Mr. Lynch tells about. His was a thorough test. Over four years is a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test and stood it well.

Why experiment with an untried medicine?

People here in Maysville have shown the way.

Read Mr. Lynch's story: W. H. Lynch, shoemaker, E. Third St., Maysville, says: "My kidneys were weak and sluggish. At one time the action of my kidneys stopped altogether. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time, the action of my kidneys became normal. I kept on taking them and they completely relieved me." (Statement given January 9, 1912.)

A PERMANENT CURE

On November 14, 1916, Mr. Lynch said: "I haven't had any need of a kidney remedy since I last recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. They have permanently cured me."

Mr. Lynch is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Lynch has twice publicly recommended—the remedy backed by home testimony, 50¢ all stores. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years doctors pronounced it to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Announcement

The company is many thousands of cars behind their orders. The railroads are unable to deliver rapidly enough on account of shortage of freight cars. On account of these conditions, which are the worst I have ever had to contend with since being in the automobile business, the company will not ship cars to a dealer unless he has orders for the cars signed by customers who are waiting for cars.

The tremendous demand will continue throughout the winter in the south and southwest, and the shortage in this part of the country in the spring will be the greatest ever known.

I have already sold and delivered one-half of all the cars I contracted for the 1917 season. I have orders on file for 25% of all the cars the company will ship me between now and August 1st. The man who waits till spring to place his order for a Ford will not get his car till mid-summer or next fall. Therefore, if you want a Ford car this year, place your order now and take the car as soon as I can deliver. Don't wait.

WILSON'S SPEECH

Shocks England and Address Is Given Unfriendly Reception by British Press—Hidden Meaning Is Believed Concealed in Certain Passages.

London, January 23—President Wilson's address to the United States Senate has furnished the British Government and public with a surprise as electrifying as his meditative note to the belligerents. With the exception of the Manchester Guardian and the Daily News, which are the only papers in Great Britain that can be classified as pacificatory in policy, the press gives the President's utterances an unfriendly reception and engages in much speculation over the meaning, which, it is considered, may be concealed behind certain passages.

Public men interviewed begin with courteous tribute to the President's good intentions, and end by supporting Great Britain's measures. While the government can not make any direct reply to a communication from the President to the United States Senate, there is certain to be discussion in Parliament.

Possible action by the American Congress on committing the nation to membership in an international peace league is awaited with greatest interest. Both David Lloyd George, in his historic maiden speech as Prime Minister, and Viscount Grey, while Minister of Foreign Affairs, stated strongly that membership in such a league, without obligations to force its decrees by arms would be useless.

The effect of President Wilson's policy on the status of the Monroe Doctrine is discussed with equal interest. Several British publicists, notably L. J. Maxse, editor of the National Review, suggested recently that Great Britain is entitled to a weighty voice in any international movement in the American hemisphere because of the growing importance of Canada as one of the foremost nations of that hemisphere.

GERMANS DEFEATED

Seven Destroyers of the Kaiser's Torpedo Fleet are Sunk by British Forces Off Coast of Holland—English Vessel is Sunk in Another Battle.

London, January 23—In an engagement between British light naval forces and German torpedo boat destroyers in the North Sea last night a German destroyer was sunk and the other torpedo craft scattered, it was officially announced tonight.

The sinking of a British torpedo boat destroyer in another engagement with German torpedo boat destroyers in the vicinity of Schouwen Bank last night, with the loss of three officers and forty-four of the crew, also was announced.

The text of the official announcement says:

"Last night, while our light forces were patrolling the North Sea not far from the Dutch coast, they met a division of enemy torpedo boat destroyers. A short engagement took place during which one of the enemy torpedo boat destroyers was sunk and the rest scattered, having suffered considerable punishment. Darkness prevented the full results of the action from being observed.

"During last night there was also a short, sharp engagement between enemy torpedo boat destroyers and our own destroyers in the vicinity of Schouwen Bank. During this engagement, one of our torpedo boat destroyers was struck by a torpedo, the explosion killing three officers and forty-four of the crew. She subsequently was sunk by our own ships. Relatives of the victims have been informed. Our ships suffered no other casualties."

According to a Reuter's dispatch from Ymuiden, it was officially stated that four were killed aboard the V-69, including the commander, Lieutenant Boehm, and the commander of the flotilla, Captain Seubitz.

German officers refuse information about the engagement, the scene of action or the strength of the flotilla. According to a Reuter's report to the Exchange Telegraph Company, two German ships were sunk and three others badly damaged in the North Sea fight.

Eight German Victims

London, January 23—Reports from Ymuiden received by Reuter's Telegraph Company via Amsterdam says that German torpedo boats last night attempted to leave Zeebrugge to avoid the lee which was very thick. Immediately they were attacked by a large British squadron. The action opened at short range, and early in the fight the bridge of the German destroyer V-69 was swept away by a direct hit, the commander and two officers being killed.

The V-69 fired one torpedo and was then hit by another British shell, which knocked the funnel flat on the deck. Still another shell put a hole in the fore part of the vessel.

The crew of the V-69 numbered about sixty. It would appear from the statements of the men that seven other German vessels were sunk. The V-69 belonged to the home fleet.

WILSON URGED TO TRY 25-CENT DIET

Washington, January 23—President Wilson was urged today to try personally a 25-cent a day diet used by a squad of New York policemen to demonstrate how inexpensive food may reduce the high cost of living. Mrs. Julia McClay, agent for the movement, suggested that the example at the White House would have a good effect on the country.

"I'll do it if Mrs. Wilson will consent," Mrs. McClay quoted the President as replying. She said she would call at the White House again Thursday and bring with her a menu to be prepared by experts connected with the movement and especially for the President's use.
